DANIELSON

Effective next Sunday, there is to be a change in the running time of passenger trains that make Danielson stops. On and after that date north-bound trains will leave here at 5:59 a. m., 8:38 a. m. and 3:10 p. m., the last north-bound train of the day. South-bound trains will leave here at 9:58 a. m., 1:10 p. m. and 6:51 p. m. All of these trains will run approximately an hour earlier than trains serving the local public under the present schedule.

On Sunday the early morning north-bound train will leave here at 5:59 a. m. the same as on week days. Another north-bound train will leave here at 5:59 p. m. South-bound, the Sunday service will provide a train at 9:58 a. m. and the last train at 7:58 a little more than an hour later than the last south-bound train on week days.

Fire Warden C. S. Hyde, of the town of Brooklyn, has issued a warning against setting of brush or grass fires in that township, unless the person who does so has a permit. Four fires have occurred in Brooklyn during the past three weeks, and Mr. Hyde is anxious that the menace of such fires be removed.

Permits may be obtained of Mr. Hyde at Brooklyn village, of C. F. Rainville of East Brooklyn, of Stephen Coffey of south-west Brooklyn, of John Myers of north-west Brooklyn. These men are deputy fire wardens and are authorized to issue permits.

It was stated here Tuesday that Albert S. Field, former county jailer, has been offered an appointment as a state police barracks to be opened in Danielson in the near future.

Whether Mr. Field would accept the appointment was not known on Tuesday. His experience as jailer and his various other qualifications are regarded as combining to make him an ideal man for the appointment under consideration.

Through an error, a notice in the funeral column of The Bulletin Tuesday morning gave Wednesday (today) as the date of funeral of Mrs. C. C. Young. The day should have been given as tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon.

"I want one hat for my car," said a local resident who comes from a distant land when he appeared at the garage. Hats for automobiles being something out of the ordinary, the garage man was sorely puzzled until his customer took him out and showed him what was missing from the machine. He wanted a cap for his radiator.

There is more or less agitation in favor of daylight saving in Danielson. The present week has brought to matter to the fore. Workers in mills seem to be the chief exponents of the plan, though the workers are by no means solidly in favor of it. Some business men like the daylight saving arrangement; others are decidedly against it. All of which would tend to indicate that there is a general division of the proposition. Whether the borough officials will take any action on the proposition was not indicated Tuesday.

Agitation of the subject at this time seems to have developed as the result of talk about the earlier running of passenger trains on the line. It is proposed to conform with daylight saving schedules in New York city and in the state of Massachusetts as well as in various cities through which the road operates.

This corner of Connecticut is patting itself on the back, at least temporarily, over the fact that it is free from small-pox cases and is not worrying over a possible epidemic of the disease, as various communities in the southern and central sections of the state are now doing. There is not a case of the disease in this corner of the state.

Approximately 235 dog owners of the town of Killingly have not been registered.

and the time for so doing, to escape an extra assessment of one dollar, expires next Monday. Up to Tuesday afternoon only 15 days out of the 150 owned in the town, according to last year's figures, had been registered. The remaining days of the week are expected to bring in a registration rush, however, this being according to experience of the past.

Unregistered dogs are to be sharply looked after this year. Owners of them will face penalties that would make a registration fee look cheap.

No change will be made in the running time of trolley cars operating over the local division on account of the change in steam road time, it was stated by a resident official of the Connecticut company. As the trolleys here operate on an hourly schedule and the running time of the steam road trains are to be advanced about an hour, the two systems will furnish such connections as are available on the same relative basis as at present.

The latest gossip in military circles in town is that the members of the Danielson service battery of the 128th field artillery may be sent to camp in Georgia for their annual summer tour of duty. This has not been verified, an order assigning the battery to Montauk Point still standing.

Recruits received by the company during the past week and this week bring the membership to the full quota of 70. In addition to the 31 bandmen who belong to the Danielson battery, but are residents of New London.

Five drills each month will be the rule until the battery leaves for camp, on July 14.

This year the battery is looking eagerly forward to the time of departure, feeling that wherever it is sent it is due for an interesting period of training.

In the course of a series of visitations to lodges in his jurisdiction, District Deputy E. J. Dwyer, was at Rockville Tuesday evening to inspect the Masonic lodge in that place.

Rev. M. J. Ginet, M. S., of Pileburgh, formerly pastor of St. James' parish, was a visitor here on Tuesday. He was visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Stott at Mystic this week. Dr. C. H. Kingsbury was in Boston Tuesday.

Another heavy frost was noted during the early hours of Tuesday morning, when the mercury was below the freezing point. Nathan Weisler, formerly engaged in business in Danielson and recently doing business in Pascoag, R. I., and in Putnam, is to open an office in New London.

A group of cable men who are to work on the underground lines of the A. T. & T. company, have taken up their residence at a local hotel.

The Goodyear Parent-Teachers' association gave a social and dance in that village Monday evening. In their tent at Goodyear, members of the Y. M. C. A. group of that village held a meeting Tuesday evening.

The novelty picture fans appreciate the novelty of an opportunity to see some real movie stars in the flesh. The attraction is booked for an early date.

Radio-ology will be the live subject of Rev. Charles A. Downs at the United church at Goodyear at next Sunday morning's services. Ideal of Perfect Manhood will be the evening subject.

Mrs. W. A. Cowell of Goodyear will have the members of the White club at her home this Wednesday evening.

All but a few places in the teaching staff of Killingly's schools have been filled by election by the town school committee for the school year to open next September.

Mill baseball teams in this territory are being handicapped by cold weather in getting into condition for the season's playing.

Richard A. Denison of Boston was a visitor with friends in Danielson Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright, Mrs. Courtney J. West, Miss Lillian West, Master Robert West and Miss Blaise J. Feeney, of Westerly, R. I., and Malden, Mass., were guests Sunday of Mrs. Elizabeth Brennan and Jack Peasey.

Frank Hart was dragged from the Quinebaug river in a nearly unconscious condition Tuesday morning after he had been hauled out of the water clinging to a rope thrown to him in the mill yard of the Putnam Manufacturing company by fellow employees who had watched the team he was driving plunge off a bank wall into the stream, the fine pair of horses, which figured in the affair being drowned in the accident.

It appears that Hart had attempted to back the horses around at a point near the river bank where he felt he had sufficient room to execute the maneuver, but a wheel of the wagon went off the wall, allowing the whole outfit to slide over and into the river, which is deep at that point.

Other employees of the mill company who were in the vicinity were quick to act and threw out a rope to Hart, who grasped it and was hauled ashore, but not before he was chilled from his unexpected plunge into the icy water and exhausted by his struggles to free himself from the rig he had been driving and to keep afloat until he could be brought ashore.

When hauled out on the embankment he was near to unconsciousness and that these were effective was indicated by the fact that he was returning to a normal condition upon the arrival of a physician, Dr. E. F. Perry, who was summoned.

Horses and the wagon to which they were attached disappeared in the depths of the stream, from which they were later recovered. The horses were fine animals and said to be valued at several dollars.

The accident was one of the most unusual that has occurred in this city for a long time and attracted the attention of numbers of operatives of mills in the vicinity.

Mr. Hart was taken to his home. It was stated that no untoward results are expected from the affair in which he figured.

The following is taken from the New York Evening World of Tuesday:

Cables from Paris today announce that a woman has appeared there claiming to be the first wife of Anastase Vonskiatsky-Vonskiatsky, the 32 year old Pole who created a sensation in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago society last February by marrying Mrs. Marion Buchanan Young Stephens, 45, daughter of the late Norman B. Ream, and part heiress to $400,000.

According to the story from Paris, the alleged first wife declares the marriage to the American press is legal because Vonskiatsky's marriage to the former at Yalta in the Crimea in 1920 is undisputed. Her father is a retired manufacturer named Morosky, living in Prague. A sister of the woman is also in America. She has divorced her first husband in Chicago in 1918. Mr. and Mrs. Vonskiatsky said they intended to live in a cottage near Eddystone after their marriage. He was employed in the Baldwin Locomotive works. They are now in their "love nest" in Ridley Park, near Philadelphia.

The Clean-up week movement, as sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is meeting with the hearty support of citizens generally, who realize the need of such action in order to keep Putnam abreast of other cities of similar size in New England. In a great many cities and towns clean-up week is an annual event, and in all these places its benefits have been definitely proven, from the standpoint of public health, fire prevention and general appearance.

Local conditions seemed to compel the setting of May 8th to 10th as the date for Putnam's Clean-up week, although it is felt that much of the work can be more easily done at a somewhat earlier time. Thus many property owners have been taking advantage of the few fair days recently to rake over lawns, remove rubbish heaps and scattered debris, and to trim up the general appearance of their premises. This work already done makes so much lighter the general task to be completed during the week of May 8th to 10th.

Several city officials have expressed their approval of the project and favor complete co-operation on the part of the city government. It is expected that the mill corporations will also do their part by putting in trim mill grounds, tenements, etc., and the owners of public buildings are being especially appealed to for their interest and co-operation.

Copies of the Handbook of Information for Connecticut Republican Women have come to Putnam and those who have read the publication declare it to be a mine of information for women who wish to familiarize themselves with matters pertaining to caucuses, elections, election procedures, school district meetings, nature of the duties of various town and city officials, minority representation, etc., etc.

Use of the ballot is set forth in detail. There are also observations, facts about voting machines and a score of other topics that will prove highly interesting to the woman who wishes to familiarize herself with the working of the machinery of state and local government.
